LEADERSHIP - THE SHACKLETON JOURNEY

 2 Days

 On/Off Site

About the Course:

In this unique leadership program we explore fundamental, practical and life changing leadership theories and principles that simply work if applied and how old school is still relevant for a future fit leader. Most leaders are honoured for their heroic victories, a few others for their glorious defeats. Shackleton never reached the South Pole despite several attempts, yet his legendary experience of leading a 27-member crew to survive over two harrowing years in Antarctica continues to inspire and teach us a wonderful lesson on leadership for over a century. In their book on leadership, Shackleton's Way, Margot Morrell and Stephanie Capparell provide an interesting description of the adventure and discussion of the management and leadership techniques Shackleton used to save his crew. Any manager in the modern high-tech world is managing efforts in an environment that seems to change as fast as the Antarctic weather. We often need to produce our company's technical and operational outputs with very limited resources.

Upon completion of this course, participants are better prepared to:

- Discover the passion for leading, motivating and coaching people
- Discover the steps that great managers take to make their work atmosphere open, trusting, innovative and productive
- Create the drive within each team member to succeed in their individual roles whilst working seamlessly as a unit
- Realise what rewards work for which individuals
- Initiate techniques for staff interactions
- Make impactful improvements to the way they communicate with their staff

Course material and duration can be customised to suit your specific needs.
